Another American Vessel Fired Upon by a War Vessel.

STATEMENT OF CAPTAIN QUICK.

He Declares That Before He Could Comply with a Command to Come To Two Solid Shots Were Fired at the Schooner Carrie A. Lane.

BREAKWATER, Del., July 25.—Captain Quick, of the American schooner Carrie A. Lane, upon his arrival here last night had a tale to tell about a thrilling encounter in Cuban waters with a Spanish gun boat. Two shots were fired at the Lane by the man-of-war, and one of the schooner's crew narrowly escaped being killed by one of them. The vessel was made to heave to and give an account of herself before being allowed to proceed.

The schooner was off Port Antonio, and making good time before a stiff breeze, when on the 14th inst. she sighted a steamer flying the Spanish flag following her. Captain Quick at first paid no attention to the stranger, but after an hour or so noticed that she was signalling him to stop. He then examined her more closely, but could only make out that she looked like a large tugboat, such as is usually to be found in the harbors about Philadelphia, New York and other American seaports. While he was making up his mind what course to pursue a puff of smoke curled up over the steamer's port bow and a round shot whistled uncomfortably close to the schooner's mainmast and plunged into the water on the other quarter.

Captain Quick gave the order to haul in sail and bring the vessel to, and while this was being done one of the crew ran out on the bowsprit to take in sail. As he stood there the gun on the Spanish warship boomed again, and another shot sped on its way toward the American craft, this time coming so close to her that the sailor on the bowsprit swears he distinctly felt the wind caused by its rapid flight.

The Lane soon came to a dead stop, and the gunboat drew up under her quarter. A boat was lowered, and four Spanish marines, under the command of a lieutenant in the Spanish navy, came aboard. They were fully armed, and their leader very civilly lifted his cap and demanded to know from what port the Lane had sailed and whither she was bound. Captain Quick gave the required information and produced his clearance papers in proof of his assertions. No further search was made, and the vessel was permitted to continue on her course without further molestation.

Captain Quick says that he could not get the name of the gunboat, although he tried to do so. He thinks that the Lane must have been mistaken for a filibustering craft, but insists that there is nothing in her appearance to justify this belief.

AS VIEWED AT WASHINGTON.

If a Solid Shot Was Fired the Case May Prove Most Serious.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The government officials here have received no information in regard to the firing on the schooner Carrie A. Lane by a Spanish war vessel off Port Antonio. The general opinion of naval officers who read the report of the affair, as described by Captain Quick, is that the Spaniard did not exceed his authority in overhauling the schooner if the latter was in the territorial waters of Cuba. The Spanish government has a right to overhaul and learn the character of any vessels within the three mile limit that might be suspected of having on board those entertaining designs against the government or a cargo intended for the insurgents.

If any report of the affair be made to the state department some steps will likely be taken by this government should the circumstances seem to warrant it. If the statement of Captain Quick that a solid shot was first fired directly at his vessel is sustained it may make the case a most serious one.

A Jealous Woman Kills Two.

BARBOURSVILLE DEPOT, Ky., July 25.—Rosa Garden, a woman of bad character living near Corbin, in this county, became involved in a difficulty with two other women, Mary Sullivan and Lizzie Brown, in which she used a two edged dagger, cutting one of the girls to the heart and the other in the abdomen, from which they immediately died. The murderess escaped to Whitley county, where she gave herself into the hands of the authorities just in time to save herself from the violence of a mob. The fight was the direct outcome of jealousy.

The Rebellion in Cuba.

HAVANA, July 25.—Marshal Martinez de Campos arrived at Manzanillo July 23. He reports that with a hundred men he fought with the enemy three times. He estimated that their numbers were 300 men. The fight took place nine miles from Bayamo. The enemy was well armed and well handled. The fighting lasted six hours. The Spanish loss, besides General Santocildes and two officers, was twenty-five men killed and four officers and ninety-four men wounded. He was relieved, he reports, by General Valdez, with 1,400 men.

Tramp Hunting in Rhode Island.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 25.—The sheriff of this county with a posse of farmers, armed with pitchforks and like weapons, returned from Portsmouth with twelve tramps, whom they had captured in the woods. The country swarms with tramps, and the neighborhood has been terrorized by them. They have held up women and children and committed many petty depredations. Another expedition will be formed to pursue the tramps.

The Ryan-Smith Prize Fight.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The papers in the Ryan-Smith match were signed last evening at the Gilsey House. The noted welterweights will meet at Dallas, Tex., after the Corbett-Fitzsimmons battle for a purse of $5,000. The weight is to be 142 pounds.

Speedy Justice in New Jersey.

JERSEY CITY, July 25.—The jury in the trial of John Ozech for the murder of his wife on June 3, after fourteen hours' deliberation, rendered a verdict of murder in the first degree. He was sentenced to be hanged on July 31.

Exploding Boiler Kills Fourteen.

BERLIN, July 25.—A dispatch to The Lokal Anzeiger from Suez says that fourteen persons have been killed by the explosion of a boiler in a mill situated at that place.

Carlisle Don't Want the Presidency.

RICHMOND, Va., July 25.—A newspaper man interviewed Secretary Carlisle yesterday. The interviewer said to Mr. Carlisle that many Democrats regarded him as a strong man for president, as well as the only legitimate successor to Mr. Cleveland. "Well," responded the secretary, "notwithstanding the fact that the presidency is the greatest honor that can be bestowed, I do not want the office. I have seen too much of the hard work attached to it." He declared that Mr. Cleveland would not be a willing candidate in 1896.

TO PROTECT THE SETTLERS.

But Troops May be Too Late to Prevent a Fight with Indians.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 25.—Governor Richards received a telegram last evening from the assistant secretary of the interior, notifying him that Brigadier General Coppinger had been ordered to proceed at once to the scene of the Indian troubles, and orders such movement of troops as may be necessary to prevent a conflict between the Indians and settlers. Later the governor was advised by General Coppinger that four troops of cavalry had been ordered from Fort Robinson, Neb., to proceed to the Jackson Hole country to protect the settlers. As it will require at least two or three days to reach Jackson Hole with these troops, a battle between whites and Indians may be fought before they can be of service.

Adjutant General Stitzer, of the state militia, wired yesterday morning from Market Lake, Idaho, as follows: "I met an Indian captain of police in Teton Basin yesterday, with thirty-five horses, hurrying out with all possible speed. I saw him again at 11 o'clock last night. He says he cannot control the Indians, who will fight at noon today."

There are in the Jackson Hole settlement sixty-five men capable of bearing arms, thirty-five women and forty children. All of these are gathered at the settlement of Mary-vale, situated between Grosventre and Little Grosventre rivers. It is possible that reinforcements from settlements east, on the headwaters of Big Wind river, and from the Mormons to the south have reached them in response to couriers sent out during the last week asking for aid. It is estimated by the state authorities that no less than 500 Indians are surrounding the settlement. If the whites have sufficient ammunition it is confidently expected they can stand off the Indians until troops come to their aid.

The Weavers' Strike in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—The strike situation among the ingrain carpet weavers continues with little change, except that both sides have more firmly entrenched themselves in their respective positions. The employers, at a meeting in the Manufacturers' club, decided that they would make no concessions under any circumstances, and that rather than grant the demands of the strikers they will close their mills until Dec. 1, when, as stated in their recent ultimatum, the increased scale will go into effect. There are still 3,000 weavers out, and counting the loom fixers, dyers, etc., who are necessarily thrown out of employment in consequence, the idle army numbers nearly 5,000. The strikers are still confident of victory.

A Dying Patriot's Request.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 25.—Colonel Silas Titus, of the Twelfth New York Volunteers, is lying on his deathbed in this city. Yesterday he placed in the hands of his son a rebel flag captured from a Virginia regiment at the storming of Mount McGregor, in 1862, and said: "My son, it has ever been my fondish wish to restore this flag to the hands of the officers of the brave regiment from which it was captured. Seek the officers of the regiment and restore to them the emblem. Say to them that from my deathbed I send back to them the flag with my heartiest good wishes and fraternal feeling."

The Strike at Colon.

COLON, Colombia, July 25.—The situation is becoming worse. The strike of the wharf and ship laborers, which commenced on July 17, and which later extended to the switchmen and others on the railroad, continues. All the steamers at Panama are idle, and all business is paralyzed. If labor is not procured promptly the transit of the isthmus will be threatened. In a place such as this, where thirty odd steamers arrive every month, this complete stoppage of business is a very serious matter to business men here, as well as to the Panama railroad.

Decamped with Bookmakers' Cash.

NEW YORK, July 25.—William Hueston, cashier for Edward Burke, the bookmaker, did not appear at Brighton as usual yesterday with his employer's cash. Burke at first thought Hueston was ill, but an investigation disclosed the fact that he had left the city and taken about $4,500 in cash. Hueston had been in the employ of Burke, Marks, Mackin and Swatts, who comprise the firm, for upward of six years, and has carried as high as $40,000 around with him at one time.

Murder on a New York Street.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Frank Sipp, 30 years old, colored, was shot and killed last night on Seventh avenue. The alleged murderer, Robert Gray, alias Robert McCoy, was arrested soon afterward. It is supposed that the two men had a quarrel, for the prisoner had a cut on his face when he was arrested. He refused, however, to make any statement in regard to the shooting.

Two Drowned in the Kills.

NEW YORK, July 25.—John Boyle and James Leahy, of this city, were drowned in East river at midnight while attempting to row across in the Kills between Randall's island and the Port Morris shore. They were brass finishers, and had been out for a holiday. Their bodies have not been recovered.

HOLMES' MANY CRIMES.

Still Unearthing Evidence Against the Arch Conspirator.

A LITTLE SKELETON IN CHICAGO.

Bones of a Child Found in Holmes' Chicago House—Murder, Swindling, Bigamy, Conspiracy, Abduction, Forgery and Horse Stealing Charged Against Him.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—As the days come and go the case of the great criminal Holmes seems to become more and more intricate. Each succeeding twenty-four hours some new crime which the authorities lay at the door of the now famous arch conspirator is brought to light. As these crimes are ferreted out persons other than the prisoner appear in roles connected with them which place them, if not in equally as guilty light as the doomed man at Moyamensing, at least as so closely connected with Holmes in his rascality as to warrant their being held as liable as he.

The latest phase of the case is that the Chicago authorities are now confident that Holmes murdered his typewriter, Miss Gertrude Conner, in Chicago. The police authorities of the latter city also believe that they now have sufficient circumstantial evidence to convict Holmes of murdering the Williams sisters. Friends of the latter have taken up the case, and a warrant for Holmes' arrest on the charge of murdering the girls is expected to be issued at any moment.

Should such a step be taken a requisition would have to be granted before the swindler could be removed from this state. This will be the barrier that will prevent the Chicago authorities from getting Holmes at this time.

District Attorney Graham will hold the prisoner in this jurisdiction until the Canadian authorities have come to some disposition as regards the Toronto murders. It is thought beyond the shadow of a doubt that the disclosure at Toronto will prove Holmes guilty of killing little Alice and Nellie Pitezel. It is believed that if the Canadian authorities decide to try Holmes he will pay the penalty of his crime on the gallows.

Here are the crimes which up to this time are charged against Holmes: Murder, swindling, bigamy, conspiracy, abduction, forgery and horse stealing. The charge of horse stealing just came to light yesterday.

At the time that Holmes is supposed to have inveigled Minnie Williams out of her money and property he, in company with Benjamin Pitezel, went to Fort Worth, Tex. Holmes had it given out that he was immensely wealthy. He had a business block located in the town, and gave notes as security for the payment of its construction.

When the building was completed he had it mortgaged before the notes were paid. The townspeople then came to the conclusion that the man was a swindler. He skipped the town in company with Pitezel. On their way north they passed through the blue grass region of Kentucky, where Holmes appropriated to himself twelve high bred horses from a stock farm near Lexington. He shipped the animals to St. Louis and sold them. He then escaped, although the detectives were hot on his trail.

Holmes was visited in his cell yesterday by his counsel, William A. Shoemaker, and to him he for two hours or more spoke freely of the finding of bones and other fragments of human anatomy found in his "castle" in Chicago. He declared that the tuft of human hair found in the chimney could not have belonged to Minnie Williams, for the reason that the chimney was a new one, put in after the girl's disappearance. As to the bones, he said, they were not those of Gertrude Conner, Minnie Williams, or any of the other persons whom he was charged with having murdered. "The police simply don't know what they're taking about," he continued, "when they say I murdered so many persons and buried their bones indiscriminately in every nook and corner I could find throughout the country.

"Quite a while ago I made a statement to the Philadelphia authorities that they were liable to find human bones in many different places all over the continent. I then frankly admitted that I had been engaged in a number of insurance swindles which didn't pan out. One of these was for a $40,000 policy, and had to be abandoned in an embryonic state because the officers of the company became suspicious. The idea was to have the bodies of a woman and boy found in their home and afterwards the corpse of a man with a bullet in his head, to make it appear a case of murder and suicide.

"I got two bodies from a graveyard to represent the wife and son, but the husband's body had not yet been procured when the insurance agents learned of the scheme and the bodies had to be disposed of the best way I could do so. I had them embalmed and put in trunks which were sent to a cold storage warehouse. Before my preparations for getting rid of the bodies could be completed, however, the manager of the storage house notified me to take the trunks away or he would sell the contents. I did so, and the bodies were buried in separate places. Where they are the police must find out."

Holmes said that the subterranean tank found in the Chicago establishment had served as nothing more harmful than a vat for illuminating oil used on the premises. The dumb waiter was accounted for by the fact that during the World's fair there had been a restaurant on one of the upper floors of the building.

In the transfer of properties between him and Minnie Williams, Holmes added, in which he had secured the Fort Worth property, a note in the shape of a mortgage was given by Minnie Williams, and indorsed "Horace A. Williams," who was supposed to be her brother. She never had a brother, however, and the indorser was Holmes himself.

UNEARTHED IN CHICAGO.

Bones Pronounced to be Those of a Child Under Ten Years Old.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Portions of a human skeleton were found yesterday in the basement of H. H. Holmes' building, at Sixty-third street. The find was made at a depth of two feet, near the wall in the basement. The bones were packed in damp earth, with which had been mixed quick lime. Several ribs were found, and with them what resembled a bit of jaw, with two teeth attached.

Late in the afternoon Chief Badenoch pronounced the bones to be those of a child from 6 to 10 years old. The surmise is that the skeleton is that of Mrs. Conner's little daughter Gertrude.

A portion of a lady's jacket, with a large puff sleeve, lay with the bones, and on the cloth was a bunch of hair, which, however, was so badly discolored that its original shade could not be determined.

The find was mysterious, as neither the skull nor any of the leg bones were found with the ribs and bits of vertebræ. A small phial, containing a peculiar looking fluid, was found with the skeleton, but its nature could not be determined without tests, and it was accordingly sent to a chemist for examination.

Geyer's Search for Howard Pitezel's Body.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—Detective Geyer arrived here last evening. He says he is satisfied that Howard Pitezel was never taken away from here, and that Holmes followed his plan in other cities—rented a house here, in which he murdered the boy and buried him, probably under it. It is upon this theory that he will work here, and although he does not admit it, he evidently has some important information which he is not yet willing to make public. The theory of the shipment of the boy's body from here in a trunk he says is not tenable, as he ran it down and found that the trunk shipped from here to Detroit contained only the clothing of the Pitezel girls.

Toronto Demands Holmes' Extradition.

TORONTO, July 25.—The adjourned inquest on the body of Alice Pitezel was concluded last night. After ten minutes absence the jurors brought in a verdict against Holmes, alias Mudget, alias Howard, of murdering Alice Pitezel in the city of Toronto, on or about Oct. 25, 1894. After the return of the verdict, the coroner made out a warrant for the arrest of Holmes. The warrant was placed in the hands of the attorney general this morning, and the necessary papers will be made out demanding Holmes' extradition.

Launch of the Cruiser Powerful.

LONDON, July 25.—The first class unarmored cruiser Powerful, sister ship to Terrible, was launched at Barrow yesterday. The new cruiser will be far larger and of considerable greater displacement than any cruiser hitherto built by any naval power, the Russian cruiser Rossia now in course of construction, which will have a displacement of over 12,000 tons, probably coming second. The Powerful is a first class cruiser built of steel and copper sheathed, her displacement being 14,200 tons, and her indicated horse power 25,000. Her length is 500 feet, her beam 71 feet and her draught of water 27 feet. Her contract requirement for speed is 22 knots, and she has coal capacity in her bunkers for 3,000 tons, and she is deck protected throughout. Both the Powerful and Terrible will require 895 officers and men, or 150 more men than are needed by the largest British battleship now afloat.

Pennsylvania's New Superior Court.

HARRISBURG, July 25.—The new superior court met in this city for the first time yesterday and perfected its organization. Benjamin H. Bentley, of Williamsport, will serve as prothonotary for the Second district, and Samuel H. Stephens, of Scranton, will fill that position in the Third district. In Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Harrisburg the prothonotaries of the supreme court are, ex-officio, prothonotaries of the superior court. No motions were presented for the consideration of the new court, which adjourned without date. Under the rules it will meet in Philadelphia in November and December, Scranton in January, Pittsburg in April and May, Williamsport in February and Harrisburg in March.

Hypnotism in a Damage Suit.

PORTLAND, Me., July 25.—Suit was brought yesterday against L. C. Young and Miss Dora Moses by George B. Morrow for alleged alienation of Mrs. Morrow's affections, the amount of damages claimed being $20,000. Miss Moses worked for Young, who is one of the largest clothing dealers in this city, and boarded with Mrs. Morrow. Mr. Morrow claims that through Miss Moses' good offices Young and his wife became acquainted, and that Miss Moses had undue influence over his wife, and hypnotized her so that she fell in love with Young. The principals in the case are all well known society people.

A Veteran's Revenge.

NEWPORT, Pa., July 25.—John Matthews, a one armed veteran, last night shot and severely wounded Elias Campbell. Several shots were fired, but only one took effect. Last week Campbell caused Matthews' arrest for wife beating, and the shooting was in revenge for the prosecution. Matthews was arrested and sent to New Bloomfield jail to await the result of Campbell's injuries.

Excitement at Rio Janeiro.

RIO JANEIRO, July 25.—There is growing excitement in this city over the occupation of the Island of Trinidad by the English. The government has dispatched two notes to the British legation of emphatic protest, quoting the order of the British admiralty of 1798, by virtue of which Trinidad was evacuated by the English and restored to Portugal.

Mill Enterprises in North Carolina.

WINSTON, N. C., July 25.—The Revolution Cotton Mill company and Proximity Manufacturing company are the names of two enterprises just incorporated at Greensboro. The capital stock of each company is $200,000, all of which has been paid in. Two more companies have been formed in the city and will probably be incorporated this week.

TRAIN ROBBERS IN OHIO

A Lake Shore Train Held Up by Bandits at Reece's Switch.

BUT LITTLE PLUNDER SECURED.

It Is Asserted That the Robbers Got Only $150 for Their Trouble—The Big Safe, Containing a Large Amount, Resisted Dynamite—Five Suspects Under Arrest.

TOLEDO, July 25.—Just after midnight train No. 37 on the Lake Shore road, to which was attached an express car, which runs between Buffalo and Chicago, was stopped at Reece's switch, midway between Archbold and Stryker, forty-four miles west of this city. When some distance from the switch the engineer saw the switch was turned, displaying the red light, and at once turned on the air brakes. Several shots were fired at the cab. One of the shots put out the headlight. When the train stopped four robbers went to the express car, in charge of Messenger C. B. Nettleman, of Buffalo, and ordered him to open the door and come out.

Nettleman refused, and the robbers threatened to blow up the car. He then came out. When the door was opened the four men entered. They secured the contents of the local safe, amounting to about $150, and then went at the big safe, which contained considerable money. Since the Kendalville robbery the express company has supplied its cars with dynamite proof safes, and this safe stood the test of four dynamite cartridges fired by the robbers. This discouraged them, and they jumped from the train and disappeared.

The trainmen believe that the desperadoes were old railroad men, but as all were masked with handkerchiefs none were recognized. Altogether there were six men in the party. The large safe, which resisted the attacks of the robbers, contained a large amount of money.

The description of the leader of the bandits tallies exactly with that of the tall countryman who led the Kessler raid. His men in both robberies addressed him as Jim, and in both instances he displayed the daredevil bravado and absolute authority over his men.

James P. Stark, a clerk in Superintendent Johnson's office on the Lake Shore road, was on the train at the time of the robbery. He was seen at his home, and gave the following account of the robbery:

"I think it must have been about 1 o'clock when it happened. I was sleeping in the smoking car at the time, and was awakened by hearing several shots as the train came to a standstill. The conductor said that the train was being held up. I did not go outside to investigate, being satisfied from what I heard that something was going on. Soon after hearing the shots I heard four explosions of dynamite, and then all was still, and soon the train pulled out for Stryker. I went into the express car afterwards and the messenger said he saw only four men. The robbers did not make an attempt to get into the passenger coaches. When the robbers left the express car one of them shook hands with the messenger and apologized for putting him to so much trouble."

Five Suspects Under Arrest.

WAUSEON, O., July 25.—Five men are under arrest here on suspicion of being connected with the hold up of the Lake Shore train at Reece Station. The detectives refuse to state what evidence there is against them. Two tramps who were on the train jumped off when the shooting began and ran back to Archbald and notified the Lake Shore people there, and in less than three hours a special train carrying the sheriff of the county and a posse, with several Lake Shore officials and detectives, arrived at the scene of the hold up. The sheriff and his men, as well as the detectives, immediately started to scour the adjacent country.

Fiendish Crime in Massachusetts.

NORTH SCITUATE, Mass., July 25.—During a revival service which was being held in Conehasset hall an attempt was made to break up the meeting by the use of dynamite, a cartridge having been exploded in the basement by some one unknown. Owing to ignorance in handling the explosive only slight damage was done, although all the windows in the building were broken. The hall was filled to the doors and an incipient panic ensued, during which several women fainted, but no one was injured.

Prisoner Removed to Prevent a Lynching.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 25.—In Calloway county, about five miles from Fulton, Mrs. J. W. Cain, wife of a young farmer, was criminally assaulted and murdered. She was 18 years of age, and had been married two months. The woman had her hands tied behind her back, every stitch of clothing torn from her body, and her throat cut from ear to ear. William Divers, a negro, is charged with the murder. He was arrested and taken to Mexico, Mo., to prevent a lynching.

A Lunatic's "Confession of Murder."

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., July 25.—In the county jail of Santa Cruz is confined William F. Barrett, who says he murdered Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams in Emanuel church last April. To the district attorney he told a story that at first seemed plausible, but when Barrett went into details of the crime the inconsistencies of his statements convinced his auditors of his perfect innocence and complete insanity. He is held for examination as to his sanity.

Killed by an Emery Wheel Bursting.

CHESTER, Pa., July 25.—An emery wheel burst at H. B. Black & Co.'s edge tool factory, killing Frank Newman almost instantly. The frontal bone and eye were crushed by a piece of the flying wheel. Fragments flew all over the shop, but no one else was hurt. Newman was 32 years of age, and leaves a widow and three small children, now living in Hammond, in the western part of Pennsylvania.

THEY SLIPPED THROUGH.

But When the Conductor Came Around There Was Some Confusion.

They were going away on a trip, and they didn't propose that their train should leave them.

"Those railroad clocks are always fast anyhow," said the stout lady. "I believe they just hope to get their trains off with out half the passengers."

"Yes, and then like as not they wouldn't want to exchange the tickets of the ones who were left," replied the angular lady. "I got ahead of them this time, though. I told the ticket seller that I meant to go at 11:30, when I never dreamed of starting before 1:15."

"How sensible of you! I got a scalper's ticket several days ago. I never patronize the railroad company when I can help it—they are so mean."

"Indeed they are. I'm almost sorry that I started today after all."

"But they expected you, didn't they?"

"Yes, but if I wasn't on the train, they'd just know I didn't come."

"Of course. I telegraphed several days ago that I was coming on this train. I always like to have things like that off my mind."

"So do I. Josephus says—he is perfectly horrid about it—that I do it in order to really enjoy changing my mind."

"My husband is like that too. He is always talking about the time I bought my ticket two days ahead and then put it away so carefully that I never could find it and had to get another."

"But you will find it some day, and then you can just take another trip on it."

"Of course I can. He says it will not be good, but I tell him that I haven't been exchanging things at the State street stores all these years for nothing—I'm not to be cheated by a mere railroad company now."

"I should think not. But that is just like a man. They have no idea of real economy. Now, when all the roads were selling excursion tickets last summer I wanted my husband to buy a lot, for I knew we could use them during the winter. He wouldn't even listen to me, but flung himself out of the house, muttering something about women's brains and hen's teeth. We'd soon come to the poor-house if I left the shopping to him."

"Like as not. Come, let us slip through the gate and into the train while that man is not looking. He'll just want to look at our tickets—talk about the curiosity of women!"

"I think so! Ah, dear, I'm half sorry I came today. I meant to go over to see old Mrs Tompkins before I went. I haven't been there for a year, and like as not she'll die while I'm away."

"That's so. Mercy, I do believe this is the sunny side of the car, after all. Let us take these seats, so we can each get a window."

"But some men have left their things in them."

"Oh, well, we can just move them across the aisle. Like as not they'll think they left 'em there, anyhow. Well, we're off. I'm sorry now that I didn't put Jennie off and go to see Susan first. But I suppose it's too late now."

"I suppose so. There comes the conductor. Ain't he in a hurry? I wonder, now, where I put my ticket?"

"Ah, dear me, I've been carrying mine in my hand. I wonder if I could have dropped it? We are going to Jonasville, conductor."

"Wrong train, ma'am," observed the conductor placidly. "Jonasville's on the other branch. Why didn't you show your tickets at the gate?"

And before they finished with him those two women had told him their exact opinion of the road.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Another Sad Case.

"Am dis de place whar dey complain?" asked a middle aged colored man as he entered detective headquarters the other evening.

"Yes, if they don't complain too loudly," was the answer.

"Don, sah," continued the visitor, dropping his voice almost to a whisper, "I wish to complain dat my clothesline was robbed last night. Yes, sah, while we slumbered somebody dun come along an robbed dat clothesline in de mos' discontented fashun."

"Have you a list of the stolen articles?"

"I has, sah. It was one white shirt, sah—de only white shirt dat I possessed in all dis world. While we was locked in de embrace of Morferous some villainous pusson dun climbed de fence an bore dat shirt away."

"Just a shirt, eh?"

"Jess a shirt, sah."

"That wasn't such a great loss."

"No, sah, not such a great loss, but look at de principle of de thing, sah. If a hilarious villain am permitted to dislocate a white shirt from a clothesline with impecuniosity, what guarantee hev we got dat de same pusson won't return an abominate de entire Monday washin, an, like 'nuff, plunder de domicile to boot? I hain't lookin at de shirt, sah, but at de immorality of 'lowin an unhung scoundrel to take advantage of de auspishus occasion!"—Detroit Free Press.

ARE WE ALL TURNING RED?

Professor Starr's Odd Theory That Americans Will Eventually Become Indians.

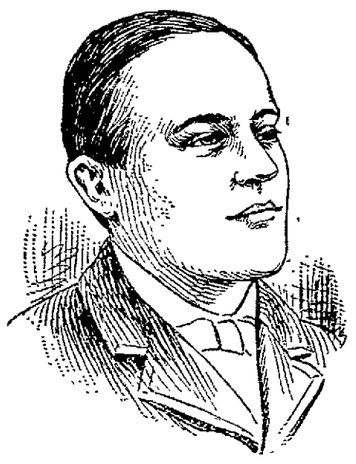
Professor Frederick Starr of the anthropological department of Chicago university, who not long ago discovered that a drop in the temperature would make a reformed thief steal, now advances the novel theory that after a lapse of many years the people of America will change their physical characteristics until they resemble the American Indian. In a recent lecture he said: "From Vancouver island to Sitka the people are, to all external appearance, of one type—dark skin, high cheek bones, black eyes and straight, black hair. They have in different sections, notwithstanding their similarity of external appearance, different forms and ideas of worship and not the same stories and myths. They do not have the same customs, and, in fact, are of many tribes, though seeming alike from outward appearance. Every class of people on the earth has claimed that the American Indian came exclusively from its race. Now, instead of the American Indians having come originally from any one race or country, is it not more plausible to believe that from influences of climate, barbarity of customs, etc., they became one type from many through those influences rather than to believe that they came originally from any one race of people?



DR. FREDERICK STARR.

"My claim is that we all are growing through the same influences toward the type of the red man. Take the cartoons, for example. How is John Bull characterized? As a round faced, burly fellow of jovial physiognomy. Everybody knows the tall, rawboned Yankee, who differs the least from the Indian because he has been here longest. The southerner is dark skinned, with black hair and high cheek bones, and is shorter in stature, just as were the southern Indians. Why should not the same influences, which seem to tend toward forming a similar American Indian type, bring about the same result as in the past, even in the face of the counter influences of civilization?"

That Omnipresent Problem.

Domestic servants are so scarce in Montreal that housekeepers visit the city prisons on the lookout for candidates.

Too Funny.

The following story is told on Lee Fairchild. At the time the incident occurred Fairchild was holding an editorial position on The West Shore and was known as the "humorous editor." While writing in the business office one day a stranger entered and inquired if the proprietor was in.

"Yes, sir," replied Fairchild.

"Are you the gentleman?" continued the stranger.

"Yes, sir, but the proprietor is in the other room," answered Fairchild.

When Mr Samuels, the proprietor, learned of the distinction the young man had drawn between himself and his employer, he discharged him, with the statement:

"You was too funny."—San Francisco Post.

His Starched Pyjamas.

"Our laundress," said a man in an elevated train yesterday, "insisted upon starching my pyjamas so stiff that I found it impossible to wear them. I suspected that perhaps she thought they were used on a tennis court or as a bicycle suit, so I called her attention to the mistake."

"'Well, boss,' she said, 'I 'clar' I thought you wore 'em to breakfast'"—New York Sun.

Gentlemen:—I have used tobacco for over twenty-five years, chewing and smoking every day from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., stopping only for meals.

On Monday, February 4th, I called at your office in Springfield, and bought a bottle of the Cure which I used as directed, and on the tenth day the desire for tobacco had left me and it has not returned. ## TWO MUTES WEDDED IN NEWBURGH.

The Marriage Ceremony Performed in Sign Language by the Rev. Thomas H. Gallaudet.

Miss Mary Goodrich Newall, of Newburgh, and William James Nelson, of Poughkeepsie, were married in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newburgh, at noon, yesterday, by the Rev. Thomas H. Gallaudet, rector of St. Ann's Church, New York city, assisted by Rev. Rufus Emory, rector of St. Paul's. The bridal couple are mutes, so the service was conducted by Dr. Gallaudet in the sign language. Charles McMann, of New York city, and E. B. Nelson, of Rome, N. Y., a brother of the groom, were the ushers. There were no bridesmaids.

E. B. Nelson is president of the Central New York Institute for Deaf Mutes, at Rome, N. Y. The ceremony was witnessed by seventy-five friends of the parties from Peekskill, Kingston, Milton, Poughkeepsie and New York city. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson have gone to New York, and will sail on the steamer Anchoria, Saturday, for an extended European trip.

IN THE RAILROAD WORLD.

It is stated that it has been definitely settled that the new car shops belonging to the Wilkes-Barre & Eastern Railroad will remain at Stroudsburg, and not be removed to Paterson, as was reported. It is also stated that the resignation of Supt. McKelvey, which was tendered to the new management, will not be accepted unless he persists in his intention to retire from railroad business.

A Successful Summer Boarding House Keeper.

Mr. George U. Evans, of Walker Valley was in town, yesterday. He is proprietor of a large summer boarding house, and is one of the few persons in all this section who always has a house full of city people in summer, regardless of hard times or attractions elsewhere. Mr. Evans has some very practical ideas about running such a house, to which he attributes his success. They may be summed up in a nutshell—a study of human nature and the exercise of common sense.

The Honesdale Assault Case.

It would seem that the first report of the alleged assault by John Burkert upon a nine year old girl at Honesdale, was considerably exaggerated. The girl was twelve, instead of nine years old, and according to her own testimony, was out with other boys and girls until after midnight the night previous to the alleged assault. Burkert denies the charge, and says it is a put up job. His bail was fixed at only $500.

Wade Buckley's Certiorari Proceedings.

The second hearing in the certiorari proceedings, brought by Wade Buckley, of Port Jervis, against the Assessors of the town of Deerpark, to secure a reduction of his assessment, which he alleges is excessive and unjust, was held, yesterday. The next hearing will be on Aug. 19.

The Gazette says the examinations are very vexatious to the persons called to testify as to their personal affairs, and are of a highly inquisitorial nature.

Receivers of the Port Jervis Shoe Mfg. Co.

Judge Brown has appointed Christopher Greenbaum and P. G. Wagner, permanent receivers of the Port Jervis Shoe Manufacturing Company. The receivers have collected over $6,000 from sales of stock, and expect to be able to pay all debts of the concern and a handsome dividend to stockholders.

In Favor of Wide Tires.

In the town of Hancock there is a road leading from Long Eddy about eight miles. It is used a great deal by stone men. About a year ago it was agreed among them that they would use nothing less than four inch tires for all heavy loads. The result is exceedingly satisfactory. They have a better road and at less expense.

A Little Too Previous.

From the Elmira Gazette.

Blessed be our relatives! An Elmira woman of some seventy-five years had a serious illness, this spring, and one attentive relative went to a leading undertaker, made all the funeral arrangements and paid the bills. He even ordered the florist to be prepared with certain funereal designs. The woman is now doing her own housework.

CATHOLIC FREE MASONRY.

The Nucleus of Such an Order Now Forming in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, July 25.—A new order, for the present known as the Knights of Columbus is forming in Brooklyn, with the probability of its extending not only throughout the state, but all over the country and Canada, and perhaps beyond the borders of the American continent. It is to be a sort of Catholic Free Masonry, and several lodges have already been formed. One lodge is made up almost entirely in its membership from the rolls of the Columbian club in this city.

The purpose of the new order is for mutual help and the furtherance of such schemes of beneficence in the way of life insurance protection for families and the like as may commend themselves to the best judgment of the members.

"It is to do for the Catholics," said one of the promoters today, "what Free Masonry does for such men as may enter that order. Politics will be absolutely tabooed, as it is in Free Masonry, and the founders of the order hope that, with a friendly feeling toward it in the church, a vastly influential membership will be gained."

The idea broached by a few club men of forming such an order grew so rapidly that it has been determined to call a conference of those who would be most likely to join, and a circular for that purpose is now being prepared.

In the decree he reaffirmed all previous orders, and made perpetual the injunction accompanying the Olmstead bill of Jan. 8, 1895, and the order appointing the receivers.

Gentry Defeats Patchen.

FREEPORT, Ills., July 25.—Ten thousand people saw John R. Gentry pace all around Joe Patchen yesterday afternoon at Taylor's park. Gentry took the lead from the wire and was never headed to the finish, although Patchen was not far back of him until they passed the three-quarter pole, when Gentry pulled away and finished ahead in 2.04¾. Gentry went the first quarter in 30 secs., the half in 59½ (which is the fastest half ever paced in public), and the three-quarters in 1.30.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—The mystery of the murder of little Ida Gebhardt, whose mutilated body was found in a tool chest Tuesday night, is still unsolved. John R. The post mortem developed the fact that the child had been horribly cut with a sharp knife, after the manner of the London ripper. She was thus mutilated before the assault.

DON'T YOU DO IT!

Don't You Put Any Money in Building Lots that are from One to Two Miles from Franklin Square.

True, "some time," the city will grow out that far, but when? True, you can get there by taking the trolley, but that costs each year as much as the interest on a complete house and lot. Don't you put any money in a building lot that can't be reached by water, gas mains and the sewer system, and that are outside of the corporation limits of the city. These facts are more important than they at first seem. Don't you let any man put a restriction in your deed. Own your land in fee simple, without one single restriction that will prevent your selling it. Any good lawyer will tell you that.

BECAUSE WHY.

If you want to make a loan to help yourself build, it will be difficult. Because your insurance costs more. Because your house may burn down without fire protection. Because you will always have to depend on a well or cistern. Because your wife can't walk if she misses the last car. Because you can never have a sewer. Because deep snow may keep you home for two or three days. Because your land won't increase in value.

RICHMOND HILL!

Lots have passed the experimental stage. We have sold 150, to many of the best citizens of the city. The lots are only five minutes from Franklin Square. They are nearer than the Wickham avenue depot, they are on high ground, they are rapidly building up, they are within the city, they are a short distance of sewer, water and gas, they are large lots, they overlook the entire city, they are backed by men who won't see them lie idle. They are cheap in price to the first comers (for this year at any rate). We are selling them on easy terms—$5 per month, without interest, and a suitable reduction for cash.

C. MACARDELL, PUBLISHER.

GEORGE H. THOMPSON, C. MACARDELL, } EDITORS
W. F. ROBINSON, A. E. NICKINSON, } CITY EDITORS
C. MACARDELL, JR., - BUSINESS MANAGER

THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1895.

The Sun says that it is agreed in Republican circles that "the little Lexow" will be renominated in the Orange-Rockland senatorial district.

Judge Bartlett, yesterday, granted a mandamus compelling the Board of Supervisors and Aldermen of Brooklyn to undo their gerrymander of the Seventh Senate district, and divide it into Assembly districts which are compact and regular in their boundaries. The same ruling applied to this county would knock the "fish hook district" into smithereens.

The Republican Capitol Commissioners have a system of examining applicants for work on the capitol that must give the civil service reformers spasms. Only one question is asked, "who endorsed you?" A satisfactory answer insures the applicant a job even if he is imbecile and incompetent, but the best workman, without the right kind of endorsement, has no show whatever.

The Ellis & Lessig Steel and Iron Company, of Pottstown, Pa., has notified its puddlers of a second advance in wages, to take effect Aug. 1st. The advance is twenty-five cents a ton,—a total increase of sixty cents a ton in a month. The Buffalo Furnace Company, whose works are running night and day, yesterday, posted notices of a twenty per cent increase in wages. The Brooks Iron Company, of Reading, Pa., yesterday advanced the wages of its employes and set a force of men at work putting a furnace, which has been out of blast two years, in readiness for use.

Dr. Gibbons, of Syracuse, who has gained some notoriety by insisting that condemned murderers, who have been placed in the death chairs in the prisons of this State, have not been killed by electricity, but by the knives of the surgeons, who have cut them open while the vital functions were temporarily suspended, is again troubling the newspapers with assertions that electricity does not kill. Dr. Gibbons can never bring the public to his way of thinking by writing letters, but if he'll take a shock such, for instance, as was sent through Fred Maguire, and come back to life, he'll find that he has converted every one to his way of thinking.

One of the interesting spots on the Republican moon is the movement on the part of the colored "man and brother" to demand a "fair share of the offices." In this State, it is asserted that about 40,000 negroes vote the Republican ticket, year after year, yet all the race has in the way of patronage is a minor clerkship in one of the departments and a dozen spittoon cleaners in the Capitol. The convention of colored Republicans to be held at Saratoga, early in September, is frankly avowed to be to demand "their share" of the places of honor and profit, especially of profit, in the gift of the Republican party. Coupled with the demand will, of course, be the plain intimation, no places, no votes."

It is said in Washington that Benjamin Harrison is an aggressive candidate for the Presidency and that he has quietly perfected an organization on the same lines as the one that secured him a re-nomination. In '92 the federal office holders were the backbone of the Harrison boom and to these men he has again appealed, relying on their gratitude for past favors and on their hope of favors to come. John C. New, who engineered the campaign of 1892 and so skillfully manipulated the Minneapolis convention, is understood to be in charge of the third nomination campaign and it is conceded that a more crafty politician could not have been selected.

A Syracuse despatch says that Col. Silas Titus, of the Twelfth New York Volunteers, believing himself to be dying, called his son to his bedside, yesterday, and gave him a Confederate flag, captured from a Virginia regiment at the storming of Fort McGregor in 1862, and said. "My son, it has always been my wish to restore this flag to the hands of the officers of the brave regiment from which it was captured. To your hands I confide it, with the sacred injunction that you seek the officers of the regiment and restore it to them. Say to them that from my deathbed I send back to them the flag with my heartiest good wishes and fraternal feeling." This sounds very fine but one can't help feeling that the purpose to restore the flag to the Virginians could not have been very strong or Col. Titus could not have combatted it so successfully for thirty-three years. A sort of deathbed repentance seems to have been necessary before he really resolved on restitution.

It is the opinion of the Boston Herald, Ind., that "the manufacturers and business men throughout the country are likely to make themselves heard next winter in a clearly expressed opinion that the tariff had better not be tinkered with."

Since July 1st there has been a most gratifying increase in customs receipts, the amount received up to the close of business, yesterday, having been $21,875,584, or at the rate of over $346,000,000 for the year. Internal revenue receipts will also soon show an increase, for the whiskey withdrawn from bond a year ago, in anticipation of the increased tax, cannot much longer suffice for the needs of consumers, and as soon as stocks now in bond are drawn on internal revenue collections will be largely augmented. Confidence is felt in Treasury circles that the income of the government will be equal to all its needs and some officials are sanguine enough to predict a surplus. If matters should turn out so the last chance the Republicans have of assailing the Democratic tariff would disappear.

SYDNEY SMITH'S

Famous recipe for Salad Dressing:

Two boiled potatoes strained through a kitchen sieve,
Softness and smoothness to the salad give;
Of Mordant mustard take a single spoon—
Distrust the condiment that bites too soon
Yet deem it not, though man of taste, a fault
To add a double quantity of salt.
Four times the spoon with Oil of Lucca crown
And twice with vinegar procured from town.
True taste requires it, and your poet begs
The pounded yellow of two well-boiled eggs;
Let onion atoms lurk within the bowl,
And scarce suspected animate the whole.
And lastly, in the flavored compound toss
A magic teaspoonful of anchovy sauce.
Oh, great and glorious! Oh, herbaceous treat!
'Twould tempt the dying anchorite to eat;
Back to the world he'd turn his weary soul,
And plunge his fingers in the salad bowl.

Yes,—that's it—just the kind of olive oil we sell, 'Lucca Cream" Salad Oil. We meant to tell you a true little story about it only we're too busy. But it's just the kind which Sydney Smith meant for his famous salad dressing.

Connoisseurs will appreciate Lucca Cream Olive Oil pressed from well-ripened olives absolutely pure and of delicious flavor.

HYMENEAL.

Stevens-Hawxhurst.

Mr. C. Newton Stevens and Miss Annie J. Hawxhurst were married, last evening, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Scott, in Walden. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Hunt, of the Walden M. E. Church, in the parlors which had been decorated with ferns and cut flowers. The bride was attired in cream cashmere and carried white roses. Her sister, Miss Myra Hawxhurst, was bridesmaid and wore white dotted swiss with trimmings of lace. The groomsman was Mr. Albert E. Hassal. A large number of friends were present, among them several from Middletown.

WORSE THAN BAD COUNTRY ROADS

An Outside Opinion of Highland Avenue and Other Middletown Streets.

From the Orange County Farmer.

The streets leading into the enterprising city of Middletown from the rural districts are in disgraceful condition. A country road as bad, for instance, as North street or Highland avenue, would be roundly condemned by every one from the city compelled to pass over it, and the "lack of rural enterprise" in permitting roads to remain in such condition would be expatiated on, even by newspapers. Of course such censure would be deserved; but a city that can spend as much as Middletown does on the streets in the center of the place, ought to have enterprise and vim enough left to provide decent public entrances.

Private Picnic at Midway

A private picnic party came up to Midway from Goshen, this morning. They were Mrs. DeWitt Durland, Mrs. Robert Young, Jr, Mrs. Curtis L. Vail and families, of Florida; Miss Ward, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Henry Seely, of Goshen.

Camping on the Shawangunk.

Death of Gen Kilpatrick's Body Servant

Benjamin Charlton, a respected colored citizen of Port Jervis, died, this morning, of enlargement of the liver. He was born at Bidderville, S. C., and during the war was the body servant of the late Gen. Judson Kilpatrick. After the close of the war he came to Port Jervis with the late Dr. Sol. VanEtten and has since resided there.

PORT JERVIS JUSTICE.

An Angry Judge Gives a Man Four Months in Albany and a Fifty-Dollar Fine.

Edward McNearney, of Pond Eddy, was sent to Albany penitentiary for four months, this morning, by Justice McCormick, of Port Jervis, for being drunk and disorderly.

The Union says Officer Feldman clubbed the man and then let him go, which was against the police regulations, and then adds:

"The Justice got very angry at the prisoner, who had one eye completely closed and a swelling on it as large as an egg, and gave him four months in the Albany penitentiary and $50 fine."

A Justice who gets very angry at a prisoner, "who has one eye closed and a swelling on it as large as an egg." caused by a clubbing from a policeman, who violated the regulations, is not in a proper frame of mind to administer justice, and should have suspended sentence until he recovered his mental equilibrium.

OBITUARY.

Dr. Levi D. Miller.

Dr. Levi D. Miller, who had practiced medicine in Newton since 1868, died on Sunday, aged 59. Dr. Miller was surgeon of the Fourth New Jersey Regiment during the late war, and was a charter member of the Grand Army Post, of Newton. He was also a member of the Legion of Honor, secretary of the Sussex County Medical Society, and a vestryman of Christ Church, Newton.

WRECK AT NEWBURGH JUNCTION.

A Passenger Train Runs Off the Derailing Switch—The Coaches Turned Upon Their Sides.

The Turners' train, a local passenger train running between Jersey City and Turners, Decker, conductor, Early, engineer, was wrecked at Newburgh Junction, at 6 o'clock, last evening.

Fortunately there were no passengers for stations west of Arden and when the train reached the junction, it ran into the Y to turn around and back into Turners, but the derailing switch was turned on and the train was sent out upon the ground beside the track, the two coaches toppling over upon their sides and one of them striking a telegraph pole. The baggage car left the rails, but did not turn over.

Had there been any passengers in the cars they would doubtless have been killed or badly injured. Both of the coaches were considerably damaged and the Greycourt wreckers and Middletown and Goshen car inspectors, with a gang of trackmen, had several hours hard work to get the coaches back on the rails.

As the train was backing up the conductor will doubtless be held responsible for the accident unless it should prove that the man in the signal tower was at fault.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

Five Children Saved from a Burning House, but Two Perished in the Flames.

Fire in the residence of Rev. W. H. Scudder, pastor of the Congregational Church, in Norwich, N. Y., at about 9:30, last evening, burned two children. There were seven children and a servant in the house. Mr. Scudder was away, and Mrs Scudder and one child were out of town. The firemen rescued five children and the servant, but Mary and Clarice, aged six and two years, were lost.

GOSHEN BALL PLAYERS WIN.

A Closely Contested Game on the Goshen Driving Park.

From our Goshen Correspondent

The Columbias came down from Middletown, yesterday afternoon, with blood in their eyes, and were determined, if possible, to show the Goshen Athletics how little they knew about the national game. The Goshen ball players have had a good rest since their Sullivan county trip, and were in A1 playing shape, as was demonstrated by the way in which they batted and fielded.

The game was called about three o'clock, and two hours later the score showed that the Goshen players had won the game by a score of 12 to 7. The visitors' defeat was largely due to their inability to hit Tierney, as was shown in the eighth inning, when, with men on second and third and two out, Gibbs struck out. Farrell covered second base in fine style for the Columbias, and a number of players who tried to steal second were put out by him with the assistance of the good throwing of Agnew. The Goshen Athletics all put up a good game in the field, and the batting of Daniel Kiernan, who made a three-base hit in the eighth inning, knocking the ball across the track, and of W Tierney, who made a number of safe hits, were among the features of the game. The score:

ON THE MOUNTAIN.

A storm from the mountain is coming,
With lightning and thunder and rain;
The wind is sweeping and humming
In the butternut trees on the plain,

The cloud is ebon that follows,
The fore cloud is livid and pale,
There's the flash and the tossing of swallows
In the turn of the eddying gale.

And the rain is awake on the mountain;
'Tis lashing the forest afar
With fall of a shattering fountain
And the tramp and the tumult of war;

With the drums of the detoning thunder,
And the clang in the bugles of wind,
With the gonfalons tortured asunder
By the rush of the host from behind.

The plains are leaping with shadows,
The highlands go out like a blot,
And over the eddying meadows
The rain is hurtled like shot.

The darkness is glooming and brightening,
There is alternate chaos and form,
With the parry and thrust of the lightning
In the turbulent heart of the storm.

* * * * * * *

Now the storm is over,
And the greener plain
Seems to glow and hover
Through the thinning rain.

Now the wind is gusty
In the maple tops,
Striking out the lusty
Storms of gleaming drops.

Now the goldfinch whistles
In his spattered vest,
Balanced on the thistles,
Bolder than the best.

And the hermit thrushes,
On the sparkling hills,
Link the dripping bushes
With their silver thrills.

FRIENDLY.

Annabel had many friends among men. "What cant it is to say friendship between man and woman is impossible!" she would cry, with flashing eyes. "What degrading cant!" with a flushing cheek. She liked the society of men. They gave her a new outlook on life. She would enjoy it if they confided their love affairs to her. So she said. Somehow they had not as yet given her that enjoyment. She was 22, with a piquant face and figure and a man of the world style of conversation that half veiled an unfathomable innocence.

It was a hot evening early in June, and one of Annabel's friends had dropped in. They were sitting together in the miniature verauda, discussing a subject they had often discussed before.

"One comfort about my man to man style of friendship," said Annabel, "one great comfort, is that one needn't be eternally bothering about one's looks and that sort of thing, when one wants to have a rational conversation. I don't know anything more aggravating than to talk one's best talk to a man, as I did out at dinner the other day, and to find him obviously speculating as to whether one's hair's all one's own. Now, I don't think you or any other of my special chums would even notice if I wore a sack when you came to see me. That's so refreshing."

"It is," said the friend. "For instance, some girls would be dreadfully put out if their shoe had a little hole in it, just at the tip, when a man was there. But you"—

"Where?" and Annabel jumped off her lounge chair with one bound and passed her pretty feet under agonized inspection. For one with whom appearance was "no object" she was wonderfully shod.

"I'm so sorry," said her friend. "I didn't mean to imply that you had a hole in your shoe. Only that if you had it wouldn't trouble you in the least."

"But it would," said Annabel, with dignity. "I never said one would care to exhibit slovenliness to one's friends. And a hole would be slovenly."

They smoked in silence.

"How do you define a man's friendship for a woman?" he inquired, after the pause had lasted a long while.

Annabel took her time before answering.

"I think," she replied at last rather slowly, "it means having her interests at heart so much that they could never bore you—so that her pain or happiness would always be to you almost more than your own. You would never hear her lightly spoken of. You would save her all you could. You would let nothing of hers be injured. Where you could you would put velvet between her and the rough things of the world, as Carlyle said."

"Yes, but he spoke of his wife."

Annabel did not seem to hear the words. She was looking over the roofs, the appallingly uniform roofs of West Kensington, to where a golden haze hung in the sky and wonderful dream music was being played and then blown into the balcony on a little soft June breeze. The gold sky was the light of the great dusty exhibition, full of rowdy Whitsuntide revelers, and the music was blaring from a brass band. But distance and the summer and the quiet hour caught it all up and left nothing of it but what was beautiful. It made Annabel feel serious.

"I am going in," she said suddenly, springing to her feet. "Here goes for lighting the lamp." And she whisked into her little drawing room with a movement anything but dreamy.

Her friend followed resignedly, though he had been very comfortable where he was. He was quite used to Annabel's frequent changes of mood, and by indulging in no such himself he was often able to lure her out and to get down to the forlorn little entity behind the many poses.

The lamp was a high one on bamboo poles and quite beyond the reach of Annabel's 5 foot of height. She got a low chair and prepared to climb upon it.

"One moment," said her companion gravely. "We have decided that it is right to protect all that belongs to our friend. Now, this chair belongs to mine, and will be more or less injured by being stood upon, even by her. Therefore"—and he lifted her up.

After one furious and unavailing twitch Annabel settled to the situation with surprising ease. She lit the lamp and adjusted its red shade and said "Thank you" with great demureness when he set her down.

They got themselves into two armchairs, but she seemed to find conversation something of an effort.

"Friendship has many advantages over—the other thing," he said at last.

"Yes?"

"Yes. It has far less obligation about it. Now, one takes an interest in one's friend's work. How's it getting on, by the way?"

"Oh, much as usual!" said Annabel.

"But one doesn't feel it weighing on one's mind that she should have to work at all. Now, with one's sweetheart how different! She should sit all day in silk attire and cross her little hands in her lap if she liked. The wind should not be allowed to blow too roughly on her. Ridiculous, wouldn't it be?"

"Degrading," said Annabel stoutly.

"Just so. Degrading. Then there's that absurd notion that women want taking care of. With one's friend the fiction doesn't have to be kept up. She goes alone to theaters and meets one at the door, and there's no nonsense about having to see her home. She takes her own bus and off she goes. Now, if she were—not one's friend, she shouldn't go one step by herself. There would always be a tedious male creature at her side elbowing off the passersby and taking every unnecessary care of her. Sounds oppressive, doesn't it?"

"Yes," said Annabel. A little wistfulness had crept into her voice and some of the sturdiness had faded.

"Then there's not that terrible demand for sympathy. One expects one's friend to fit in with one's own particular mood, just as one picks up a book that chimes in with it. If she doesn't happen to suit one day, off one goes. It isn't necessarily on one's mind that she may be in trouble of her own, or, if she is, she can say so. There's no need for the 'I will die ere she shall grieve' business."

He hummed the words with a ludicrous exaggeration. Annabel shrank a little. She ridiculed sentiment in public and cherished it as deeply in her heart as every other clever little feminine fool in the world.

"Now, with one's sweetheart," he said, watching her, "one can tell she is sad while she is still smiling her welcome. One knows every little trick of expression—almost every thought behind the curls. There's no going off then without comforting. Out it must all come, and she must be petted into happiness again. Doesn't it sound puerile?"

No answer from Annabel. The band at the exhibition was playing a particularly vulgar comic song. It came in at the window softened to a melody straight from paradise.

He thought he heard a little sigh. He came and leaned over the back of her chair.

"The mutual society, help and comfort the one ought to have of the other, both in prosperity and adversity," he said, speaking low. "How does that sound, Annabel?"

No answer.

He knelt down by her chair and got hold of both her hot, small hands.

"How does that sound—my dear?"

"It sounds sweet," she said in a voice that was only a breath. But he heard.

* * * * * *

"Is it as sweet as it sounds?" he asked.

That was long after, however.—New Budget.

The Circular Saw.

A correspondent states that the circular saw was first invented in America by a combmaker named Hartshorn, who used a common handsaw to saw out the horn between the teeth, thus forming one of those old fashioned horn combs.

Finally, thinking it rather a slow process, he took what used to be called a "Bungtown copper," filed it down thinner, drilled a hole through its center, then squared the hole and cut the teeth around its outer edge, placed it upon a mandrel true and permanent, then put it into his lathe, and with the flat horn lying upon a wooden rest he sawed out his combs.

From the copper he shortly cut up his backsaw and converted it into circular saws. This man, Hartshorn, lived and died in Mansfield, Conn. He also invented the screw and lip auger, also the bits, such as are used in the brace. He was asked why he did not put in his claim for compensation long afterward, when we had a patent office.

His reply was that if he had done anything that was a benefit to his fellow men they were welcome to it.—Philadelphia Record.

From LaGrippe.

How Dr. Miles' Nervine Restored One of Kentucky's Business Men to Health.

No DISEASE has ever presented so many peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, useless, sleepless, perverse, as LaGrippe.

Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky, says: "In 1889 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking my nervous system with such severity that my life was despaired of. I had not slept for more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me, but gave me no rest. I was only conscious of intense mental weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker.

When in this condition I commenced using Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine. In two days I began to improve and in one month's time I was cured much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends."

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

It is Injurious To Stop Suddenly

And don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of the use of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about "BACO-CURO." It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with "BACO-CURO." It will notify you when to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or smoke. An ironclad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded.

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured. I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.

Yours very truly, C. W. HORNICK

Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco user for thirty-three years, and during the past two years have used chewing tobacco very extensively. My nervous system was affected considerable. I have often tried to give up the use of tobacco, but always failed, until I bought three boxes of your "Baco-Curo." I used tobacco at the same time while taking "Baco-Curo," and after a week I lost the appetite for tobacco—smoking or chewing. I am enjoying better health and consider your "Baco-Curo" the safest, most harmless and reliable remedy for to break the tobacco habit.

Yours truly, JOHN RODDEN,
Postmaster, Rodden, Ill.

Dear Sirs—I have used chewing tobacco very extensively the past thirty years. I tried so-called "No-To-Bac" and other remedies, but without success, until I bought three boxes of your "Baco-Curo." I continued chewing tobacco while taking the preparation and find that the horrible craving for tobacco has left me, and I consider myself cured. Gentlemen—Last summer I furnished Mr James Reid, of the town of Burnside, Trempealeau Co., with three boxes of your "Baco-Curo." He had chewed tobacco for over forty years and the last year used over sixty-five pounds. He commenced using "Baco-Curo" and one box did not have the effect, when he had used about one-half of the second box, he began to lose his taste for tobacco, and when he had used one-half of the third box he had lost all his appetite for it, and is now entirely cured.

Yours truly, J. C. TAYLOR, Druggist.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

This is to certify that I, William S. Sawyer of Atlantic, County of Cass, State of Iowa, having been an inveterate smoker of tobacco, bought three boxes of "Baco-Curo" Dec. 21, 1894. Began taking same according to directions and can say that I am completely cured of the tobacco habit. "Baco-Curo" is simply wonderful and I recommend it to all who are slaves to the tobacco habit and wish to be cured. I am in perfect health and have not felt so well in years. That terrible craving, which every tobacco user has more or less, has completely disappeared and I feel like a new man. Hoping that this may do some one good and lead them to try this wonderful remedy, "Baco-Curo," I remain, Yours truly,

WM. S. SAWYER, Atlantic, Iowa.

Clayton, Nevada Co., Ark., Jan. 28, 1 95

Eureka Chemical & Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.

Gentlemen—For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Curo" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my change of feelings and condition.

Yours respectfully, P. H. MARBURY,
Pastor C. P. Church, Clayton, Ark.

WHAT MR. KRAEMER SAYS OF "BACO-CURO."

ATLANTIC, Iowa, Feb 4, 1895.

This is to certify that I, F. D. Kraemer, of Atlantic, Iowa, was an inveterate smoker of cigarettes for more than two years.

About eight weeks ago I bought three boxes of "Baco-Curo" I began taking it according to directions, and after taking one and one-half boxes, all the desire for cigarettes left me, and I have had no desire since.

I can heartily recommend "Baco-Curo" to all who are slaves to the cigarette habit or tobacco habit in any form, and are in search of a cure. I had become so under the influence of cigarettes, I could not remember anything; could not study, unless under the influence of the drug, which is death in the end, if kept up.

Cigarettes are sapping the lives out of more boys and young men to-day, than anything that is known to the world. Boys, before it is too late get some of this remedy that killed the craving for cigarettes in me and save your young life. Restore yourself to manhood. You will feel as though you had escaped an awful doom, and you have, when cured by "Baco-Curo," for you feel like a new being. I never felt better in all my life than at this present writing. I did not know what was the matter with me, until informed by the agent. He told me what was the reason I could not do anything unless under the influence of the death-dealing poison found in cigarettes. I did not believe him at first, until he explained the action on the system. Then bought the goods and thank God and all concerned, I am a sound person to-day. Hoping that this may reach the unfortunate cigarette smoker, I remain. Yours respectfully,

F. D. KRAEMER.

Hypothetical Trolley Tunnels.

The trolley car party is as popular here as elsewhere, but it remained for Baltimore wit to invent an attractive novelty for the trolley ride. Last week a party of 40, comprising a due proportion of gay youths and maidens properly chaperoned, started for a ride to Glyndon. On the return trip a member suddenly left his seat and had a long whispered consultation with the motorman, whose subject he refused to divulge to his curious companions, although, stimulated by the mischievous twinkle in his eye, they plied him with questions. On merrily went the car till all at once the motorman sang out:

"At the top of this hill look out for the tunnel!"

The mystified members of the party looked at him and one another in amazement, for no tunnel could they remember on the road. But when the top of the hill was reached they shot into quick darkness, for the motorman had turned off the electric lights. A peal of laughter rose as the joke was seized, and then all over the car arose sounds of an osculatory nature which the perplexed chaperons could not locate, but were pacified when told the girls were only kissing their hands in deference to tunnel customs. Six tunnels were passed, and finally the motorman cried out:

"Last tunnel before we reach the city!" And the tunnels were unanimously voted the best part of the jolly ride.—Baltimore American.

Was Noah a Carpenter?

"'Twas a bright, warm morning in early spring a few years before the completion of the ark. All was peace and quiet. The sunny silence was broken only by the tap of Noah's hammer and the occasional ribald remarks of some young toughs who had strolled over to josh him about his proposed voyage.

But suddenly the calm was jarred to fragments by a prolonged shriek of agony, which caused Mrs. Noah's hair to creep and startled her into dropping a porterhouse steak into the coal vase. Hurrying out to the ark, she beheld her spouse with his head bowed on his breast rocking to and fro in speechless pain.

"What troubles thee, my soul?" she inquired in trembling tones.

Noah raised to hers two eyes full of suppressed emotion, removed from his mouth a mangled thumb, held it up to her gaze beside a bloody hammer and observed in a voice quivering with intense feeling:

"By the whiskers on the hands of my father, madam, if this thing continues much longer, I'll be derned if I don't hire one of these unregenerate sons of Belial to stand around at two bits an hour and swear for me."

Whereat he again tenderly inserted his injured thumb into his mouth, while Mrs. Noah wept tears of silent sympathy.—Truth.

In 1950.

"Such an odd choice, and yet"—

The two young men laid down their embroidery and proceeded to eat some bonbons.

—"George had his reasons for promising to marry that football player."

Raising a salted almond to his cherry lips, Reginald also raised his pensive eyes inquiringly.

"Yes, Reggy, dear, he had good reasons. You know Sara Van Winklewink comes of good old Knickerbocker blood; she is the best quarter back at Vassar, and besides"—

Willie gazed at the marquise rings on his pink tipped fingers.

—"George always thought he would look so well in black."

The manservant having announced a caller, they dashed some powder on their noses and went into the drawing room.—New York World.

Too Much.

"But why have you thrown George over?"

"Oh, I hate him! The other evening he asked me if he might give me a kiss, and because I said 'No' he didn't."—Sketch.

A Deceiver.

"I have been deceiving you," he wildly cried.

She would have fallen had she not clutched the air.

"I have been deceiving you. I"—

The words seemed to be fairly wrung from his unwilling lips.

—"am the man who writes those 'fair with stationary temperature' predictions in the papers."

With a shriek that was eloquent with anguish she turned and gazed gloomily into the gathering dusk.—Detroit Tribune.

An Important Question.

If your friends or neighbors are suffering from coughs, colds, sore throat, or any throat or lung disease (including consumption), ask them if they have ever used Otto's Cure. This famous German remedy is having a large sale here and is performing some wonderful cures of throat and lung diseases. John J. Chambers will give you a sample bottle free. No matter what other remedies have failed to do, try Otto's Cure. 5

"CALLED HER OUT OF HER NAME."

A Jealous Wife Pays $3 for Abusing a Woman Seen in Her Husband's Company.

A married woman was fined $3 in Recorder's Court, this morning, for having used abusive and insulting language toward a young unmarried woman.

The former pleaded guilty, but urged in extenuation of her offense, the fact that the younger woman had been seen in company with her husband, and that the latter had failed to provide for her and her invalid child for the past two months. She further claimed that she had nothing in the house to eat but bread and butter and only two cents in money.

The Recorder gave her some good advice, and when he pronounced the sentence of $3 fine, despite her protestations of poverty, it was paid from a five dollar bill, which the woman drew from her pocket book.

NEWS FROM MILLER'S HAY FIELD.

"Topping Out" a Stack is Slow Work—Taking an Afternoon Off

David R. Miller was busy, yesterday afternoon and this morning, "topping out" a hay stack, just back of the old soap factory building. As everyone who knows anything about farm work is well aware, "topping out" a stack is slow and tedious work, and Mr. Miller was only able to draw in two loads of hay.

Mr. Miller isn't working this afternoon. St. Paul's Sunday school picnic is being held at Midway Park, and Mr. Miller isn't missing any chances for outings, even if the public is getting impatient for that "after haying" job of street work on the extension of Highland avenue.

NO SOAKING RAIN IN YEARS.

A Retired Farmer on the Change in Seasons in Orange County—The Big Rains We Used to Have.

Said a retired farmer, a man ripe in years and old in observation, to an Argus reporter: 'We have'nt had a soil-soaking rain in Orange county in eighteen years. Why," he continued, "when I farmed it, more than twenty years gone by, there were seasons when sod was so soaked that it spurted water under foot tread and we had to forego some crops because the ground was too wet to start the plow. Often when we did get corn and potatoes planted the seed never came up, but just rotted in the ground, and we'd have to go to replanting. If such seasons would return, there would be plenty of water for Middletown, without pumping, and hay enough for all the critters on the farm, and all wanted in the town could be spared. But it don't appear to me that we are ever going to have such seasons again, while for want of 'em the ground is baking into hard-pan, making it harder and harder, every year, for the farmer to get a living."

A REMARKABLE DREAM.

A Warwick Woman's Vision of Strange Happenings that Came True.

From the Warwick Dispatch

Yesterday morning, at the breakfast table, Mrs. B. B Sayer told her husband of a queer dream she had had during the night. She thought she was at the circus, and that she took a ride in one of the chariots; that the horses ran away through the fields and along the highway, through Bellvale and up to the top of Point Peter.

Half an hour later it was learned that during the performance in Warwick the same night of the dream, a team of circus horses hitched to a chariot, did run away just before the close of the performance, and that they took the exact route dreamed of by Mrs. Sayer, running to the top of Point Peter, where they were overtaken by riders on horseback.

Mrs. Sayer had not been to the circus, and knew nothing of the runaway (although the horses passed the house) as it happened after 10 o'clock when the household was wrapped in slumber.

THE WHEELMEN'S FALL RACES

To be Held Sept 4—The Committee of Arrangements

The Middletown Wheelmen held a meeting, last night, and decided upon Wednesday, Sept. 4 as the date for their fall races. The following committee was appointed to make the arrangements. C. L Swezy, chairman, C. Higham, D. Shafer, E C. Strack, G. M. Bowler, John Birch, E. Walthall, W Benedict, E. I. Emerson, W. P. Ketcham, H. A. Smith. The committee will meet Friday evening.

Progressive Tennis Tournament

The Middletown Tennis Club will hold a progressive tournament at its courts, on Grove street, Saturday afternoon, July 27th, beginning at 3:30 o'clock. The tournament is open to the ladies and gentlemen of the club only.

Successful operations by surgeons are reported and published to the surgeon's credit, and it is also a benefit to the public to know of his skill. In this way Drs. Jones and Potter and their ability to cure rupture have become familiar to the public Russell House, Thursdays. 5

There is no doubt, no failure, when you take DeWitt's Colic & Cholera Cure. It is pleasant, acts promptly, no bad after effects. W Olney.

GREENVILLE.

Personal Items—A Sunday Afternoon Smash-up.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—Percy Shult, a student in Columbia College, New York, and his brother, Theron, are spending their vacation with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Seybolt.

—Mead Case and sister recently visited in this vicinity.

—Harry McCombs spent Saturday and Sunday at B. F. Greene's.

—Theodore Brown, who has been conductor on the trolley cars, at Newark, for the past two years, has returned home.

—Ed White and Ford Lawrence had what might have been a very serious accident on Sunday. They were driving quite recklessly when their horse became frightened and ran into a telegraph pole, throwing both out of the wagon and bruising Mr. White quite badly. The wagon was also broken. We hope this will be a warning to them to be more careful in the future.

A Sunday Afternoon Incident—The Hay Crop—An Epidemic of Colds.

From another Correspondent.

—Mrs. Josephine Denton, of Port Jervis, was a guest of her mother, Mrs. Emma Hallock, for several days, last week.

—Most farmers are through haying in this neighborhood. They report not more than half a crop.

—Several people in this vicinity are complaining of bad colds.

—The quiet of our village was disturbed, last Sunday afternoon, by two intoxicated men, who drove at an unusual rate of speed through the village, and still urged the horse to more speed by a vigorous use of the whip. When at the west end of the village, the wagon struck a telephone pole. The men were thrown out, but received only slight injuries. The wagon was damaged to some extent. The horse was thrown down and stunned, but he soon recovered. A dozen men and women were soon on the scene. The drunken men managed to fasten the horse to the broken wagon and started out of the village much to the relief of those present. Much sympathy was expressed for the horse, but none for the drunken men.

Why a Snake Committed Suicide

From the Newton Register.

A story comes from Two Bridges, on the Susquehanna road, that a big rattler deliberately laid its head on the track and awaited decapitation by a switching engine. A superabundance of snakes in that locality is the only possible reason for such suicides.

Got the Blue Envelope

"Jack" Taylor, conductor on the Monticello train, who has been connected with the road since it was built, has received the blue envelope, containing a notice that his services will not be required after Aug. 1. Alex Sisson, a brakeman on the road, will succeed him.

Real Estate Notes.

—Gardner & McWilliams, real estate and insurance agents have sold for the First National Bank, its house and lot, No. 10 Beattie avenue, to John H. Houston, the expressman.

That Tired Feeling

Is a common complaint and it is a dangerous symptom. It means that the system is debilitated because of impure blood, and in this condition it is especially liable to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for this condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season, climate or life.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the bowels and liver. 25c.

Diarrhœa should be stopped promptly. It soon becomes chronic. DeWitt's Colic & Cholera Cure is effective, safe and certain. Hundreds of testimonials bear witness to the virtue of this great medicine. It can always be depended upon; its use saves time and money. W. D. Olney.

Mr. A. A Snyder, Supt. Poor Farm Winnesheik Co., says:—Last winter Mr. Robert Leach used two boxes of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve and cured a large running sore on his leg. Had been under care of physicians for months with-out obtaining relief. W. D. Olney.

SAVE THE BABY'S LIFE.

Babies Take Lactated Food With Evident Relish.

Safety for Pale, Weak, Sickly Babies in Hot Weather.

A Perfect Substitute for Healthy, Vigorous Mother's Milk.

To the thoughtful parent hot weather brings the consciousness of increased care and forethought regarding the diet of the little ones. It is appalling to anyone understanding the subject to see the carlessness of parents and nurses in the matter of infant feeding.

With cholera infantum raging as it is East and West this summer, these facts cannot be put to parents too plainly.

This mortality is not a necessary evil, for, as every single writer on the subject (from the eminent Dr. Routh, to whom every physician turns for advice, down to the honest medical student, whose opinions see light in the popular medical journals) agrees it arises principally from the improper feeding of children.

Watch your baby's actions carefully, especially at this season of the year so trying to little children. Is he cross fretful or peevish? Is he troubled with constipation, colic or diarrhoea? Is his sleep short or easily broken? Then his food disagrees, and he is in serious danger of fatal disease.

"What can I do?" we hear you ask. Change at once to lactated food, a pure and scientific food that makes the sick baby well and keeps the healthy child hearty and strong, even in summer's dangerous weather.

The best physicians prescribe it, intelligent mothers recommend it, and babies living on it prove its worth by their healthy and happy faces. The worry and sadness that it keeps away is alone sufficient reason for using lactated food; but it is also very economical, costing less than five cents a quart, when prepared from the larger sizes. The small size costs only twenty-five cents, and will be mailed on receipt of price by the manufacturers, Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt. If your druggist hasn't it in stock, do not let the sun go down before you have ordered some. It may save the baby's life.

The mother's milk in the summer is affected by the heat, and is often dangerous for the infant. It is much safer to wean the child and put it upon this reliable food that is always the same.
